FOREST COUNTY GIES MAJORITY TO REPUBLICANS

Forest county voters gave Republican candidates almost a two to one victory over their Democratic opponents both in state and local races in Tuesday's election, according to complete unofficial returns from the 15 precincts there.

Judge William M. Parker, Republican candidate for supreme court, received 908 votes, as compared with 507 for his Democratic opponent, W. Russell Carr.

In the superior court race Judge Charles E. Kenworthy, Republican, polled 950, while Judge Michael Musmanno, Democrat, received 513.

The Forest county vote for judge of Warren and Forest counties gave Allison D. Wade, Republican, 1,086, while Earl H. Beshlin, Democrat, received 545.

For associate judge of Forest county, E. O. Burcher, Republican, incumbent, received 1,350, while E. N. Mason, Democrat, was given 595.

Eugene W. Pifer, Republican, was elected coroner over R. N. McDonald, Democrat, by a vote of 528 to 363.

Need For a Red Cross Aide Corps Stressed

The need for a Red Cross Nurse's Aide Corps in Warren has been stressed as very urgent and it is hoped that the necessary applications for the 80-hour instruction course will be made this week.

An enrollment of 20 is necessary, it is stated by those in charge, and at present only eight applications have been received at the local headquarters.

Women of the community are reminded that any woman between the ages of 18 and 50, intelligent and physically fit, and able to serve at least 150 hours every year without pay, is eligible for the corps.

Mrs. W. F. Clinger, head of the Nurse's Aide Corps committee, stated today that if enough applications are received this week, the course will be started right after the Christmas holidays.

Members of her committee will be at the Red Cross headquarters, 404 Market street, every afternoon this week from two until three o'clock to discuss the course of training and the duties of the volunteer nurse's aides.

Third Torpedoed U. S. Warship and Her Commander

The naval tanker Salinas, above, joins the Kearny and Reuben James in the growing list of U. S. Navy vessels torpedoed in the North Atlantic. There were no men killed in this incident and the vessel managed to reach port safely following the attack near Iceland. Her skipper is Commander Harley F. Cope.

Announce List of Warren Stores Planning to Close Armistice Day

In order that Armistice Day may be observed in Warren with proper solemnity and in cooperation with veterans' organizations, most of the retail establishments of the community have notified the Warren Chamber of Commerce that their places of business will be closed all day on November 11.

Because of the nature of their business, drug stores cannot well observe the full day as a holiday, was pointed out. However, most of them will cooperate by observing usual holiday hours, it was announced.

For the information and convenience of the public, the secretary of the Chamber provides the following list of those who have declared their intentions to close.

A. & P. Super Market.
B. & E. Chevrolet, Bakers Cleaners, Banner Grocery, Batsch Furniture, Bayer Furniture, C. Beck's, Inc., Betty Lee Shop, W. H. Renton Grocery, Brown's Boot Shop, Inc., Connelly's Grocery, Cook's Boot Shop.
Danielson-Carter Company, Daring Jewelry Company, G. B. Gum Grocery.
A. E. Elmhurst Grocery, E. D. Verts Hardware Company.
The Flower Shop, Frederickson's Market.
Gnagay Grocery, Good Housekeeping Shop.
Harriet-Zyrt Shop, Hubbard Motor Sales Company.
Jean Carol Shop, Jean Frocks, Inc., Johnson's Grocery, Frank P. Milano Grocery.
Ben Kinnear, A. C. Kirberger & Son, S. S. Kresge Company, Lewis Market, Loblaw Groceries.
McMarrow Jewelry Company, C. Mader Motor Sales, Metzger-right Company, Montgomery and Company, Mostert Bakery, New Process Direct Shop, Nichols Jewelry Store.
Parvin Motor Car Company, E. Patchen Grocery, J. C. Penney Company, Pickett Hardware Company, Pileggi Grocery, Printz Company.

Alexander Rashid, Red and White Grocery, Dartmouth street, H. G. Rogers.
Schwab's Grocery, Simonsen Wall Paper Company, Singer Sewing Machine Company, C. C. Smith Company, South Side Market, Steins, T. O. Stern Grocery, Style Shop.
Triangle Shoe Company, Frank Truister and Son.
Nels Valentine and Sons.
Warren County Dairy Association, Warren Fish Market, G. W. Waxman and Son, Weigel Motor Sales, N. K. Wendelboe Company, Western Auto Associates, Wine-rizer Grocery, F. W. Woolworth Company.

It is hoped by the Retail Merchandise Committee of the Warren Chamber of Commerce that barber and beauty shops and all other establishments that can do so will observe the day as a full holiday. It will not be necessary for them to notify the Chamber of their intention to do so.

CHECK DOWNTOWN FIRE
Pittsburgh, Nov. 5.—(P)—Hard work by city firemen last night prevented a stubborn blaze in one of the closely packed buildings in Market Square, downtown, from spreading.

The fire broke out in the basement of the Rand Cut Rate Drug Store in Market Street and was not extinguished for almost two hours. Fire Chief Nick Phelan estimated damage at $10,000.

AWARD MILL CONTRACT
Pittsburgh, Nov. 5.—(P)—A contract for the rolling mill and auxiliary equipment for the new $15,000,000 blooming mill of the Aluminum Company of America to be built at Massena N. Y., has been let to the United Engineering and Foundry Company here.

The new mill will supply stock for airplane motors and fittings and other national defense industries. It is expected to be completed within eight months.

As the play being given by St. Joseph's Players will also be produced on Friday evening, the officers hope members will take advantage of this and be at the Council meeting tomorrow night.

DEFENSE TRAIN TO BE IN ERIE ON NOVEMBER 15

In connection with the defense special clinic train which is being sent by the government to all industrial centers of the country, H. W. Correll, secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, has been informed that, contrary to original announcement, industrial representatives of Warren county will be invited to visit the train at Erie on November 15th instead of at Pittsburgh a few days earlier. Individual communications on the subject will be mailed from Washington to each manufacturer in this district before the end of this week.

A complete list of our industries has been sent to OPM for that purpose," Correll relates. "If, by chance, any manufacturer does not receive an invitation before November 8th, it will be appreciated if he communicates with me so that an invitation may be secured for him."

Types of defense equipment needed by the armed forces of the United States will be on display for inspection by those who seek items which they can manufacture in their establishments. Manufacturers only will be admitted to the train, and by ticket only. They are requested, it is announced, to have with them a list of facilities in order that conferences may be conducted without delay.

Officers of the Army, the Navy, the Maritime Commission, and the Contract Division of OPM will be on the train to confer with interested manufacturers.

Wm. E. Yeager, President of the local Chamber of Commerce, and Correll have been invited by C. R. Terry, of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, to serve on the committee which will welcome the Defense Clinic Train to Erie and open it to the manufacturers of the district, and to attend a committee breakfast at the Lawrence Hotel prior to a preview of the train.

RAILROAD DOING MUCH BUILDING TO AID DEFENSE

As part of its contribution to the national defense, the Pennsylvania Railroad is today engaged in most important and far-reaching program of its entire history for the enlargement and improvement of its freight car supply. The program calls for the construction, during 1941 and 1942, of 11,875 new freight-carrying cars, and the complete reconditioning, by class 1 heavy repairs, of approximately 3,000 cars per month. This will add 9,600 cars to the available supply by the close of the present year, and over 23,000 by October 1, 1942, just prior to the annual traffic peak. By that date, also, the proportion of freight cars under or waiting repairs will be reduced to 3.4%, a minimum practicable working level.

The program also includes the building of 25 new locomotives and heavy repairs to existing engines at the rate of 200 per month. In the 12-year period from January 1, 1930, to the end of the present year, installation of new equipment on the Pennsylvania total over 35,000 freight cars and 336 locomotives, all of the most advanced and efficient designs. In the same period, the railroad has spent an aggregate of $667,500,000 on betterments, improvements and additions to its general facilities for rendering service.

The 3,000 repaired cars which the Pennsylvania is turning out of its shops each month are from a service and utility standpoint, in every respect the equivalent of new cars. Only those parts are preserved in the repair process which are capable of giving results substantially equivalent to new and, in addition, all improved and modernized features are applied so that the repaired cars emerge from the shops fully in step with the march of progress and ready for a dozen more years of service.

STATE ELECTION AT A GLANCE

By the Associated Press
Republicans win in state-wide balloting—Justice William M. Parker elected to 21-year term on supreme court; Judge Charles E. Kenworthy chosen for full 10-year term on superior court.

All Philadelphia ballots placed under guard until official count can be made of closest city election since 1911. Unofficial returns give Republicans all major offices except city controller, which is retained by Democratic incumbent, Dr. Robert C. White.

Fifteenth congressional district voters choose Wilson D. Gillespie, veteran Republican legislator, as U. S. representative to succeed the late Albert G. Rutherford.

Democratic Mayor Cornelius D. Scully noses out blue stocking rival to retain Pittsburgh's chief executiveship.

Republican judges lead over most Democratic opponents in county balloting.

WOMEN'S PART IN HEALTH CAMPAIGN

One of the greatest health movements in this country was launched by a woman and has been carried forward largely through the work of women both organized and unorganized groups.

This tribute was paid today, to H. M. Miller President of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society in discussing the place of the Christmas Seal Sale in the great battle to overcome tuberculosis.

"A woman of vision was responsible for launching fund-raising for tuberculosis education in the United States. Mrs. Miller combined and it is with pride that women here and all over the country rally to this cause."

In 1907 at Wilmington, Del. Miss Emily Russell was faced with the closing of a small, open-air hospital for tuberculosis patients because of lack of funds. The sum needed was $100. Miss Russell persuaded a few friends to undertake the printing of some decorative Christmas Stamps such as were being sold in Denmark.

Appraising the sale of stamps for her stamp sale she mailed them to Philadelphia newspaper to see if it would recognize the worth of the sale. The paper the North American sponsored her enthusiastically and it was decided to print a larger supply of stamps so great was the demand in Pennsylvania and Delaware and New Jersey.

The decline in the tuberculosis death rate since that year is evidence that the anti-tuberculosis program made possible from that modest beginning has achieved results. This record is marked by the fact that tuberculosis still ranks as first cause of death among women between the ages of 15 and 35.

Women volunteers are assisting in numerous ways in preparation for the 1941 Christmas Seal Sale throughout the United States.

Warren County's share in this nation-wide work of combating tuberculosis has been sponsored without interruption by the Warren Lions Club since November 1926 under the name of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society. The original officers of the Society were President Dr. J. R. Duncan, Vice President William P.
Taylor, Treasurer Maurice P. Emery, Secretary H. M.
Miller. The Board of Directors was made up of the following: George Franz, Horace Blair, Herbert Harris, Dr. C. E. Schmehl, Howard Schaeffer, George Johnson,
George Ensworth, J. H. Parks and George Polmar.
Of this group of officers H. M. Miller and George Franz are still actively associated with the work of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society.

Two events both of which are entitled to 100 per cent co-operation from the community in general are scheduled this month. The first will be Armistice Day, next Tuesday, the plans for which will be announced in a day or two. The other is the annual county fair. Transferring day service sponsored by the Warren County Ministerial Association which coincides with a very person in Warren to participate in the fair will be will be held November 27 at 10:30 a.m.

According to a report from Harrisburg, Penn., there has an ample supply of turkeys to grace the Thanksgiving table this year but the state agriculture department doesn't offer any suggestions as to how to procure securing the money with which to buy a bird.

From the first report which incidentally came from Clarendon the result was in no doubt Sheffield providing the greatest vote the Democrats most carrying the two districts and electing a tax collector.

Considering the avatars of the voters during the campaign the large turnout at the polls yesterday was what surprising.

Pretty safe to predict that next year's election will be a lot more exciting than the one that was held yesterday.

Congratulations, Judge Wade, on a very clean and clean-cut victory.

From all reports small game took quite a beating in the county yesterday!

EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, Nov. 5.—John L. Lewis, gruff, burly, 225-pound head of the United Mine Workers, revealed to his staff the other day that he can still dance a jig. After his conference with the President, Myron Taylor and Mediation Board Chairman William H. Davis, Lewis returned to his office in what used to be Washington's swank University Club building, two blocks from the White House. As Lewis entered the office, he grinned broadly and executed about a dozen quick steps that would have gotten by in any rug-cutting session. He felt then that he had won the captive coal mine strike.

One point generally overlooked in all the excitement about this captive mine strike is the so-called "Protective Wage Clause" in the Appalachian agreement. It gave Lewis cards and spades to start with in his casino game negotiations on behalf of the miners. In brief this protective clause provides that for the union should make a contract more favorable to either side than the Appalachian agreement then the Appalachian agreement should be modified.

In other words if Lewis should sign an open shop agreement with the captive mine operators, then negotiations would have to be reopened for a new Appalachian agreement. Naturally, none of the operators would be particularly anxious to go into that again. Lewis, holding the upper hand on this account, even went so far as to notify a coal field that it might be necessary to take action to this end.

Whatever your opinion on Lewis and mine is, only two schools of thought on this subject—must be recognized that he is the sweetest campaigner in labor relations today. He brought up his miners not to work without a contract, and they don't. In the captive mine case, he maneuvered the National Defense Mediation Board into a position of doing the thing which Congress has refused to do. He is a consummate politician, and admitting his own fallibility.

Here is one bureau chief's evaluation in justification of the government's publicity campaign. All government agencies got their propaganda from Congress. It is necessary for these agencies to express Congress' policy in great detail. Lewis, however, is a man who can get the public to see the government's point of view. He is a man who can get the public to see the government's point of view.

From the fact that Lewis is a man who can get the public to see the government's point of view, it is not surprising that he is a man who can get the public to see the government's point of view.

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — Capital

Talk:
In spite of all the lease-lend funds available, whenever one of the participating nations wants to get what it ordered, it buys with its own cash.

Here's how it was explained to me by the purchasing agent for one of the countries that has access to lease-lend millions: "We ordered a thousand light trucks through lease lend. They must have looked around and picked the company that hadn't had a recent defense order and we got that make of truck. It's a make that we don't like. It's a good truck, but it was designed for a magnificent paved highway, not for the rough dirt roads and boulder choked mountain tracks of our country."

"Consequently, when we want to be sure to get some specific make or some particular brand of product, we just step up with our own money. It doesn't apply only to trucks and it doesn't apply only to my country. We have all learned that the only way of being certain to get exactly what we want is order direct."

THE latest justice department gossip is that "Tommy the Cork" Corcoran, around whom another little storm blew recently over his successful representation of a big chemical holding company charged under the monopoly statutes is definitely out of the running for the post of U. S. solicitor general. BUT, it is said, Tommy is going to get a big defense job and soon. If it's true, Tommy's enemies will be discovering why he is called "the Cork"— you can't sink him.

HUNDREDS of bills are introduced in Congress every session that have no more chance of passing or even being seriously considered than the proverbial snowball that rolled into the devil's workshop. Sometimes the senators or representatives do it to fulfill a campaign pledge; sometimes to placate a large faction of voters; sometimes to satisfy Mr.

Moneybags who has contributed generously to the campaign.
Sometimes it is just for the purpose of getting something into the open.

Sen. Gerald P. Nye took time out from his battle for isolationism to introduce such a bill the other day. It would forbid the President's appointing any member of Congress to any branch of the judiciary until that member has been out of office for two years. Such a law would have made impossible the recent elevation of former Sen. James P.
Byrnes to the United States Supreme Court, for example; or the appointment of Rep. Marvin Jones as a federal district judge in Texas.

May be that's what Senator Nye has in mind—pollution of the system of rewarding congressmen for work well done by setting them up on one of the federal benches.
No matter what the reason, just try to stretch your imagination to the point of visualizing Congress throughout the government with voting "aye" to a bill that would make it impossible for them to get a cushy job until they had been
"at liberty," as out-of-work actors say, for a couple of years.

THAT Dies Committee list of 1,124 government employe-who are said to be members of subversive organizations has started wholesale investigation throughout the government with a score of scared department and bureau heads trying to clean up before the list is made public. One person who knows some of the names on the list says he doesn't know about the membership angle but that there's at least one fellow on there who not only is NOT subversive but is a rabid patriot.
"If that man is even tinted with subversion," he said, "then Barbara Fritchie was a Hessian spy."

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Frank Fay is back in town with a fund of new stories. The one that gets the biggest laugh concerns the little old lady who found herself mixed up in the Louisiana maneuvers recently. She started to cross a bridge but was stopped by a sentry who shouted, "You can't cross that bridge; it's demolished!"

The little old lady stared at the bridge. "I don't see anything the matter with it," she said.

"It's demolished. I tell you," the soldier shouted. "You can't cross there."

In exasperation the old lady turned to another soldier and said, "It isn't really demolished, is it?"

"Don't ask me," the soldier said. "I've been dead three days."

I HAVE been wondering when some smart band leader would capitalize on those "Modern Design" radio transcriptions that advertise a popular brand of cigarettes. You know, the one about the land—(a, da, ta, ta—ta, ta; in the air—Zuuuuuuuuuuuuh; and on the sea—toot, toot, toot—o-o-t, Ed-die Cantor, Fred Allen and most of the radio comedians have used it as a gag in their broadcasts. Comes now a new recording by Sammy Kaye entitled "Modern Design," a clever novelty, smoothly handled, with the land, air, and sea gag worked to perfection. I look for it to be one of the big winning novelties of the season.

LARRY CLINTON, the old Dipsy-Doodle, dropped in for a chat. His plan, he said, was to go to Boston. "Storage is cheaper there," he told me. "He's the youngest member of the stratosphere club on record," he said. "A few hum in the stratosphere when he was six months old."

I said, "Larry, what did you name your kid?"

He said, "I named him 'Larry, Jr.'"

GLENN MILLER looks fine since his return from Hollywood. The ex-U. of Colorado trombonist opened his third engagement at the Hotel Pennsylvania. Glenn's organization is one of two bands. I'm told, that really earns a dividend for the hotel. Most hotel entertainments have to be chalked off at a loss, as good will advertising. Glenn Miller's engagements have shown handsome profits. The kids love him. They can have all they want of him for 40 cents. And Sonja Henie, too, is in jail. How did this happen? Glenn recently has come in for lots of publicity. When you hit the front pages in this town, something happens to you. For years Rose has patted up and down the streets at night, wheeling folding money from celebrities. A legend grew up around her. She broke into the headlines. Many stories were written about her. Then it happened, as it so often does, when you hit the headlines. The cops have Rose behind the bars.

BROADWAY ROSE, who turned sidewalk mooning into a science, has 30 days in which to contemplate the vagaries of life under the bright lights. The "Street" most famous gumball lass is in jail. How did this happen? Rose recently has come in for lots of publicity. When you hit the front pages in this town, something happens to you. For years Rose has patted up and down the streets at night, wheeling folding money from celebrities. A legend grew up around her. She broke into the headlines. Many stories were written about her. to business men; that there is virtually no hope for a broad system of free enterprise after the war.

Priorities Boss Donald M. Nelson gives this illustration as one reason for curtailing the use of copper. A builder wrote to protest the restriction on copper in small house construction, saying that it takes only 144 pounds of copper to build a small house and that without this restriction, 600,000 small houses might be built this year. Multiplying Nelson figured his came to 43,000 tons. In the month of October, the available supply of copper was 138,000 tons, while the demand for military supplies was 144,000 tons.

It was at a staff meeting in the Office of Civilian Defense, Mayor A. Guardia's outfit, in which a lady named Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is employed part time. The project being discussed was registration of available spare rooms or defense emergency occupancy. Mrs. Roosevelt was presiding and she was insisting that the people assigned to make the registration must be competent citizens of sound judgment.

The story was told of another similar survey, where one registrant had turned in cards showing a number of excellent rooms were available at a back street address. Investigation showed that the survey was correct. All the physical comforts were provided for. The place was quite all right, except that it was a house of ill repute.

WARREN ROTARY MEMBERS ENJOY PLEASING TALK

Rev. Ivan E. Russell, pastor of the Sheffield Methodist church, was the speaker for the weekly meeting of Rotary Club members, held at the Y. W. C. A. activities building.

In developing his topic, "Bible Translations," Mr. Russell explained how simple it is for persons not familiar with our language to become confused as to meaning of certain words, and applying that confusion to the various translations to which the Old Testament has been subjected.

Examples were given as they pertained to the Hebrew, Greek, Latin and, finally, our English translations as they stand today. Also of considerable interest to members were the photographic facsimiles of various translations, which were passed out for examination.

Sweater-a-Month Is Urged in Campaign For Army and Navy

Join the Sweater-a-Month Club. This is the plea of the Citizens Committee for the Army and Navy, Inc., enlisting American women in a Region-wide drive to knit sweaters for the United States soldiers.

Already thousands of American women, representing every strata of society, have pledged themselves to knit a sweater each month for the nation's men in uniform. Membership in this new band of patriotic knitters ranges from society leaders to shopgirls, famous actresses to college students, noted clubwomen to housewives.

It's simple to become a member of this growing club. All you have to do is visit your local store for yarn and official knitting instructions, then get out your knitting needles and get busy.

Stores throughout the country have on hand ample supplies of regulation yarn, together with simple knitting instructions for the types of sweaters needed by today's vast forces of American boys in uniform.

When your sweater is completed, return it to the store where you purchased the yarn, which in turn will forward it to the nearest Region Council who will see that it reaches a United States soldier—a personal message from you to some boy in camp, assuring him that he is not forgotten by the "folks back home."

Your pin money will buy the yarn. Your spare time will make the sweater. And you'll make an American soldier happy.

When starting an automobile engine, the throttle should be opened part way. Not only does this permit more gas to enter the cylinders, but makes it easier for the engine to turn over.

Defense Bond Quiz

Q. To what extent can inflation be prevented on the sale of Defense Savings Bonds?

A. To the extent they are purchased in volume sufficient to divert buying pressure from consumer goods which tends to make prices go up. That is, if enough Americans save enough money by lending it to their government instead of spending all they earn, further price rises tending to 100 percent will be retarded.

Q. Are federal employees buying Defense Savings Bonds?

A. A great majority of all federal workers have voluntarily subscribed to regular buying plans whereby they use part of their earnings every pay period to purchase bonds.

Note: To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps go to the nearest post office bank or savings and loan association or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps are on sale at retail stores.

Hundred Dollar Extra Cash Prizes Stirs Enthusiasm in Baby Contest

Those whose babies are not on the Honor Roll this week have vowed their determination to place their chosen ones on it next week by getting in sufficient merchant coupons, augmented by some subscriptions.

Extension subscriptions are playing a most important part these days—when an extension (or second payment) is obtained, votes are earned according to the period in which the original subscription was given; many mothers are getting the second six months order, and in many instances, the second year, thus adding to their baby's vote total in a big way.

Votes decrease again Saturday, November 8th.

GROUP MEETINGS

The Triumph unit will meet November 10 at the Grange Hall. At its last meeting, held with Mrs. Floyd Swanson, Mrs. Prendergast talked on selection and construction of slip covers, showing illustrative slides.

Several groups attended the afternoon session held at the Stonehome community house, considering slip covers, curtains and draperies and viewing the samples and illustrations. The next meeting will be on November 12.

Plans are progressing for the formation of a nutrition council in the county.

An extension group was organized in Corydon on Monday afternoon, and Mrs. Nesmith was hostess to Rogers Mills members on Tuesday afternoon.

FIRST EVANGELICAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY

In keeping with the rally services of the First Evangelical church this month, the Women's Missionary Society will hold a rally meeting at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. S. F. Custer, Seneca avenue. It is hoped that all women of the church will come for this rally of old and new members. An interesting program has been planned and refreshments will be served by Mrs. Custer, Mrs. Lottie Northrop and Mrs. George Rhoades.

BLUE STOCKING CLUB

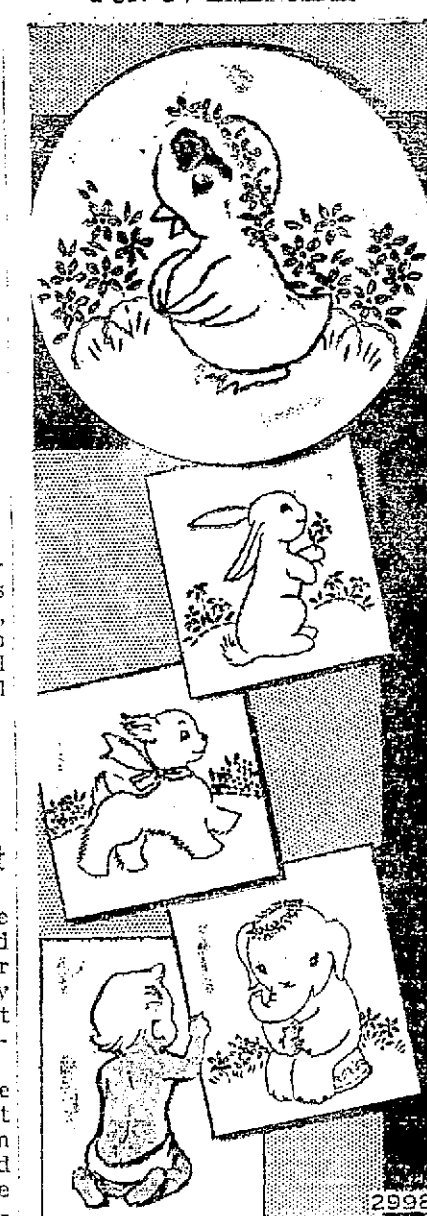

Mrs. Walter Murphy gave an excellent paper on the evolution of American democracy at the meeting of the Blue Stocking Club, held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Grace Tarbox, Fourth avenue. Mrs. George Calderwood was assisting hostess.

The program was followed by tea with Mrs. W. E. Lutz and Mrs. Burr Walker presiding at a pretty table.

CHURCH SUPPER

About 50 women were in attendance last evening at the Holy Redeemer church hall, when a tureen supper was served at 6:30 o'clock. The evening was spent in playing cards, with prizes for auction bridge going to Mrs. Bert Sexton for high, to Mrs. George Beach for second; in five hundred, to Mrs. Edward Simones for high and to Mrs. Jennie Davis for second. For other games, Mrs. Andrew Holman received high prize and Mrs. A. Sullivan, second.

Three Major Fronts Where Russians Battle Nazis

Despite deepening snows and Russian counterattacks, Nazis are pounding the defenses of Moscow final attempt to take the capital before it is hidden in a winter snowscreen. In the south German troops are making a double drive on the Caucasus with thrusts at Rostov and through the Crimea as shown on maps.

Close Contest is Recorded in Steel Capital

However, Democrats appeared certain of retaining Allegheny county coroner, with Police Magistrate William D. McClelland, Democratic candidate, piling up a big lead over his Republican opponent, John F. (Speedo) Loughran, former Pitt basketball star.

The five Democrats for Pittsburgh city council were swept in to office, paced by Congressman Joseph A. McCord. Robert Garold, "father of daylight saving time," topped the five defeated Republican candidates.

Control of Allegheny county common pleas court, which appoints the boards of education and viewers as well as lesser court officers, still hung in the balance. Republicans, who were conceded election of four of the eight judgeships at stake, lacked one to the court. There are five Democratic holdovers and three Republican holdovers on the 16-member court.

The Republicans elected were Andrew T. Park, present district attorney who was also nominated on the Democratic ticket; and Judges Thomas M. Marshall, Sara M. Soffel and John P. Egan. Leading candidates for the four other judgeships, in order, were Judge William J. McNaughton (R), Judge S. Malcolm McDonald (D), James L. O'Toole, Jr., present Democratic president of city council; and Judge W. Heber Dittich (R).

Frank Buchanan, 38-year-old school teacher, caused a sensation in nearby McKeesport by dethroning Mayor George H. Lysle, 74, who had headed the industrial city's government for 28 years. Buchanan, a Democrat, polled 9,520 votes to the 9,239 of Lysle, a Republican.

Elmer J. Malloy, a CIO leader and Democrat, was re-elected mayor of Duquesne by a narrow 3,365 to 3,213 margin over Frank Kropf, Jr., Republican.

Elsewhere in western Pennsylvania: Allegheny — Republican Sheriff Charles T. O'Loughlin defeated Paul Normile, ex-SCOW organizer, for burgess.

Beaver Falls — Former Mayor Dennis Mutscheller, Republican, returned to office by defeating the incumbent Democrat, Glenn W. Major.

Indiana — Orrin M. McMillan, Republican, won from Clyde H. Bath, Democrat, for county recorder.

Clearfield — This borough elected a Democratic burgess, Robert H. Lucas, to succeed the Republican incumbent, C. E. Roseberry. Ridgway — Democratic burgesses were elected by the voters of the Elk county boroughs of St. Mary's, Johnstown, and Ridgway. They are, respectively, Gilbert Rocker, Raymond Brechtel and J. A. Mast.

Clearfield — This borough elected a Democratic burgess, Robert H. Lucas, to succeed the Republican incumbent, C. E. Roseberry. O'Dwyer Defeated in Gotham

Maurice J. Tobin won reelection as mayor of Boston, thwarting a comeback campaign of James M. Curley. Both are registered Democrats.

Governor Charles Edison's attempt to wrest control of the New Jersey legislature from the Republicans failed, despite the governor's statewide stumping tour.

Dwight H. Green, Republican governor of Illinois, likewise met with no success in his support of his party's state in 23 Chicago judgeship contests. Victory went to a Democratic sponsored coalition slate consisting of 15 Democratic and eight G. O. P. candidates.

Balloting on some legislative candidates and on proposed constitutional changes aroused little interest in Kentucky, since Democratic control of the state legislature was not at stake.

Other election results: Cleveland: Democrats broke an eight-year Republican hold on city hall by electing Frank J. Lausche as mayor.

Detroit: Incumbent Edward J. Jeffries defeated Joseph A. Gillis for mayor in non-partisan balloting.

Bridgeport, Conn.: Mayor Jasper McLevy, Socialist, won a fifth term.

Albany, N. Y.: Erastus Corning, 2nd, elected mayor, giving Democrats an extension of their hold on city affairs, continuous since 1922.

Akron, O.: Democrat George J. Harter, a blind member of the state legislature, unseated Republican Lee D. Schroy as mayor.

Three Dauphin county (H. burg) judgeships—of statewide portance because of the common wealth cases tried there—were turned by Republicans by a one margin.

President Judge William Hargest was re-elected on the public ticket. Robert E. V. side, Jr., Republican floor 1 in the state house, and J. Rupp, former Dauphin county treasurer, were the others named as judges in Dauphin.

Although Lackawanna turned in a majority for Democratic candidates for superior courts, Scranton elected a Republican, Howard Snowdown, as mayor. He defeated State Senator Edward J. Cole.

One Pennsylvania was renominated from the Washington through the Luzerne county ion. Congressman J. Harold nery, Democrat, was named common pleas judge in the thracite county.

Red Cross—U.S. Defense Partner

RECORD MEMBERSHIP NEEDED TO KEEP UP HEAVY PROGRAM

WORK FOR MOTOR CORPS—Red Cross Motor Corps volunteers made almost 200,000 trips during the year for veterans, crippled children and in connection with the defense program.

AS Uncle Sam's active partner in national defense, the American Red Cross is shouldering its biggest responsibility.

Its Field Directors in Army and Navy posts handled 126,515 human problems during the past defense year—counsel and direct aid to service men and their families back home.

More than 5,000 Red Cross nurses were inducted into active Army and Navy duty last year. Red Cross Nurses Reserve is asked to enroll 10,000 nurses in military service by next June.

Red Cross blood plasma project has been speeded to provide the armed forces with 200,000 pints of plasma. Blood donations are processed into plasma, dried, and delivered in hermetically-sealed flasks for emergency use.

Volunteer Red Cross workers have increased to a tremendous total to meet a flood of new demands. For example they produced more than 20,000,000 surgical dressings for the U. S. Army alone last year, in addition to an even larger number for populations entangled in war. Red Cross Motor Corps and other volunteer units sped up their tempo in tune with the defense effort.

First aid and water safety courses are being provided for Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors. Red Cross instructors train service men to teach life-saving methods to their comrades.

Red Cross will enroll and train 100,000 volunteer nurse's aides to relieve the acute shortage of nursing service threatening civilian life because of the Army and Navy demand for nurses.

Plus its important new duties, the Red Cross was on the scene of 149 major domestic disasters the past year. Relief supplies valued at $47,087,052 were given to war-harassed Europe and Asia.

Heir to responsibility—that's the role of the American Red Cross.

More than ever, it needs every American's support through membership in its annual Roll Call, November 11-30.

STANDS BY FOR EMERGENCY—Mass shelter and feeding are traditional American Red Cross responsibilities in time of disaster. Its plans are being adapted for use in civilian defense in event of a national emergency.

Salem Evangelical Class Hostess For Harvest Home Event

P. T. A. News

MOTHERS' CLUB HAS OBSERVANCE

Last evening the Willing Workers of the Salem Evangelical church held their annual harvest home dinner, with Onward Class members as special guests and sauerkraut as the principal item of a delicious menu. There were about 70 present for the 6:30 o'clock dinner, served at the church.

In charge of the kitchen was Mrs. Fred Rosentrater, class president, assisted by Mrs. John Dahler and Mrs. Ernest Kaehnle. Mrs. Albert Ristau, dining room chairman, provided very attractive tables with many flowers from her garden. Assisting her were Mrs. Casper Mader, Mrs. Paul Schwab and Mrs. Henry Baldensperger.

The vice president, Mrs. Carl Jones, was in charge of the devotional period and acted as a capable toastmaster for the program. A quartet composed of Raymond Marti, Emil Ristau, Lee Olsson and Ben Ackert, sang two selections and Mr. Marti gave a vocal solo.

The pastor, Rev. S. E. Schuch, read three poems in keeping with the Thanksgiving theme and Mrs. Casper Mader offered several humorous readings. Mrs. Henry Baldensperger gave an enjoyable musical reading.

Mrs. Rosentrater made an announcement of the Christmas party to be held next month by the Willing Workers.

Everybody Reads the Times-Mirror

The Home Street Mothers' Club very appropriately observed National Education Week, which begins November 10, at the regular meeting held in the school Monday evening. Nearly 100 parents were in attendance. The president, Mrs. Fred Plummer, conducted the business session and devoted on teaching our children. Amistue Day and Thanksgiving were in charge of Mrs. Ramer E. Forsgren. Mrs. Robert Carlson, secretary-treasurer, presented her reports, as did the chairman of the standing committees.

The program opened with exceptionally good group singing and Mrs. Lewis Garber, program chairman, introduced each member of the faculty: Miss Margaret Corbin, principal, Miss Catherine Hutchinson, Miss Frances Grosch and Miss Clementine Weaver. They talked very interestingly on the theme, "What Five Years at Home Street School Should Do For Your Child", and each teacher gave some phase on methods of teaching, what subject she teaches and what should be considered in dealing with each child as an individual problem.

Following these talks by the teachers, H. L. Blair showed some beautiful colored movies which he took while on a western trip with his family this past summer. The program was concluded with all singing "God Bless America." Parents were then given the opportunity of visiting the various schoolrooms and viewing the work displayed. Refreshments were

SOME SCORE
Middletown, Pa., Nov. 5.—(P)—The boys in the Middletown Bowling Alley were goggle-eyed tonight at the score of 675 run up by William Coble, an army air depot employee, in three games—the last one a perfect 300. It was the 29-year-old Coble's first 300 and the first in this section for many a year. The mark was rolled up in a casual game with two pals.

NO TRUMP SIGNALS 'KEEP ON BIDDING' IN 'V. V.' SYSTEM

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority

Before taking up the responses to the one-bid, I want to call your attention again to the fact that the bidding requirements are based on the eight high cards, the four aces and four kings. It is assumed that when the partnership holds six of the eight high cards, they probably have a game. When this is learned, there is no need to crowd the bidding. Big hands do not have to be rushed and a good deal of information can be passed back and forth.

The "V. V." system uses a phrase termed "When you are in the system." When you make an original bid showing a definite number of cards and the response also shows a definite number of high cards, you are now "in the system."

Over an original bid of one spade, heart or diamond, a suit response does not call for continued bidding. If you want your partner to continue bidding, you must respond with either one, two or three no trump.

A response of one no trump shows that the combined hands have six high cards, two no trump, seven high cards; three no trump, all of the high cards. Therefore, a response of one no trump over one spade would indicate that you held three high cards, while for a bid of one no trump over a bid of one club, you would need only two high cards. If your partner opens with an original one no trump and you have less than two high cards and want him to continue bidding, you must make a response of two clubs or three of any other suit. A bid of two of any suit except clubs asks partner to pass. Of course the bid of two clubs is made:

Bulldog Coach Bill Pauley Has Built Up Big, Strong Eleven

Guided by a new and very capable head mentor this season, the Meadville High School Bulldogs went to work yesterday preparing a party for the Warren Dragons come Saturday afternoon in which the hosts will endeavor to act as greedy as possible planning, of course to win a denouement over the Leidigmen.

Bill Pauley is the man who has taken a good-sized dog out through a hard but fairly successful season this year and he has done himself proud by building up one of the finest grid machines in the area.

Pauley succeeded Earle (Barney) Barnhart this spring when the veteran Meadville coach resigned, and Pauley took over the grid and basketball reins.

With a team that averages about 170-pounds to the man, fully as large as Jamestown's Red and Green giants, Pauley hopes to be able to put the Dragons squad, which will be possibly seriously crippled for the game.

Kath Patchen seems to be out of commission entirely with a slight injury that could be made serious very easily should he attempt to play, and unless he recovers before the weekend arrives, the Dragons will have to use a reserve at right tackle.

Don Sharp's knee still bothers him, and if he is forced to the sidelines much of Warren's defense power will not be available because Sharp's punting has been excellent this fall. While Dick Kifer has a bad arm Mike Bleech is being outworked with a tricky knee and Albert Salerno still has not completely recovered from his recent injury.

BILL PAULEY

eleven best men Saturday and getting them in the right positions may not be quite as hard as it sounds.

The Dragons are enthusiastic about their coming game, always having been a jinx for the Bulldogs and hoping not to make this year an exception. Moreover, the Blue and White charges want a victory to clinch their season, therefore, will be fighting with every weapon they own come Saturday.

THE LATE "POY ANSON" REVEY BASEBALL STAR COACHES IN THE A.B.C.—

Sports Round-up

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Nov. 5.—(The special news service)—That wasn't a nansewee you heard howling during the past couple of days, only football coaches who figured the officials hadn't done right by their teams. First, Florida's Tom Lieb complained about a timer who stopped the clock when he shouldn't. Then Northwestern's Lynn Waldorf claimed the Minnesota boys didn't stop themselves for the required second on that touchdown play. And Princeton's Tad Weman said Franny Lee of Harvard had hit the ground two yards away from the touchdown.

Long Hits Wanted
Hearing the other day about the mysterious clippings regarding one Lou Long discovered in Lou Gehrig's scrapbook, Jim Finnerty of Bloomfield, N. J., recalled how Gehrig (Long for college reasons) played a game there once. Lou worked in the outfield and didn't get a hit. The manager paid him some bucks for his work, then said the club couldn't use him again because they needed a slugging outfielder.

Woodside Playing 5th Position for Temple

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—(P)—When Jimmy Woodside takes his place at halfback in the Temple University lineup for the game with Villanova Saturday, he'll be playing his fifth position with the Owls.

Woodside, a sophomore who played in the backfield for Philadelphia's Olney High School, has been used at end, tackle, guard and center at Temple.

Coach Ray Morrison said the versatile Woodside, six feet two inches tall and weighing 215 pounds, will replace Angelo Spargna.

Rams Lauded for Work Against Boilermakers

New York, Nov. 5.—(P)—Fordham celebrated its return to work today with a light drill in which Coach Jim Crowley reviewed the Purdue victory, telling his linemen they had turned in the best exhibition of the year.

Crowley also praised Jim Blumentstock for his punting and Jim Noble for his field generalship.

In the actual workout four full teams romped through a signal drill. Crowley said the squad would leave after Thursday's practice for the game with the Pitt Panthers.

Penn State Drilling Hard for Syracuse

State College, Pa., Nov. 4.—(P)—Penn State's football team, encouraged by its 42-0 victory over New York University, went through a heavy scrimmage today for its houseparty weekend game with Syracuse Saturday.

Coach Bob Higgins' squad came through the N. Y. U. engagement with only one casualty. Jack Banbury, promising sophomore fullback who sustained an ankle.

Higgins expects to have his three tailbacks, Pepper Petrella, Bill Deblor and Ralph Ventresco, ready to play for the first time this season.

Little Sends Lions Thru Long Workout

New York, Nov. 4.—(P)—Coach Lou Little took full advantage of the election day holiday at Columbia's football practice today. For the first time since classes began in September, the Lion coach had all of his men on the field by 9 a. m. and they didn't finish work until after dark.

Kicking and place-kicking, the latter with Junior Dick Ferarini starring, were first on the program followed by a long forward-passing drill.

Posipone Robinson's Go With Marty Servo

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—(P)—Ray Robinson, New York's hard-hitting negro lightweight, was granted an eight-day postponement of his fight with Marty Servo, Schenectady, N. Y., so that a cut over the eye suffered in a recent bout would have time to heal.

The fight will be staged here November 18, Promoter Herman Taylor said.

Robinson was cut over the left eye in his triumph over the Pittsburgh veteran, Fritz Zivic, in New York last week.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 4.—(P)—Johnny Hatch, Army's plugging fullback turned in one of his best performances of the whole practice season today as the Cadets intensified their drills for Saturday's game with Harvard.

The Monterey (Calif.) junior was a standout with his all-around play during the scrimmage against the reserves. Hatch's work drew the praise of Coach Earl Blaik, who especially commended Hatch's plugging in West Point's five games to date.

WITH HIS BOW AND ARROW

Lewisburg, Pa., Nov. 5.—(P)—There were a lot of rabbits killed in Union county on the opening day of the season, but 16-year-old Joseph W. Snyder thinks his is unique. He killed it with his homemade bow and arrow. The high school junior practiced marksmanship for months before entering the woods with his steel-headed weapon.

STEP UP AND MEET MR. ALLAH BYE, THE GUY WHO THROWS LOSERS FOR A BIGGER LOSS THAN ANY OPPONENT

Just what percentage of upsets in football are caused by rain, mud and other gridiron handicaps provided by the weatherman cannot be estimated, nor can you put your figure on any definite number, but it always provides the losing team with a suitable alibi for losing a hard one, especially when they drop a contest to a team which they were highly favored to whip.

Of course, some teams get away with a good brand of ball on bad field conditions, majorly slippery gridirons, and others just could never click on the same type of field if they practiced on one just like it all season long. But the fact remains that the same disadvantage and, therefore, still remain on as even a basis Jamestown last weekend in pouring rain against enormous odds, yet they can't be termed lucky for scoring that upset. Monday night Erie East edged Meadville on a frosty field by a 7-0 score, and Coach J. B. Leidig, who made the trip from Warren to scout the Bulldogs, remarked that one good pass whipped the Doggies. Nevertheless, East must be given credit for that play and also for the victory. The point, however, which we are trying to bring out is the fact that, regardless of conditions, strength of teams, odds, etc., the better team at the time of the game will win 90 per cent of the time, and should the favored team lose, the best plan is not to try to explain why, just mark the contest as one it lost, forget it, and plan a comeback next time.

If this were the case, there would be no need for an alibi, which, in our estimation, always throws a team for a bigger loss than any enemy could ever hope to maneuver. And this we've set the stage for a poem printed in the October issue of "Faithful", written by L. J. Thompson, Baldwin City, Kansas, and one of the cleverest and most impressive efforts in verse ever to bear a connection with sports. The poem:

ALLAH BYE
Allah Bye, I'm loathe to say,
Is not a famous Turkish bey,
His lineage I could never trace
For he shows up 'most any place.
He has a way to satisfy
The loser, who just wouldn't try;
So Allah takes the loser's side
To solve the loss when critics chide.

Now, Allah has a way of staying Close at hand when men are playing;
He knows full well that he may be Called upon for company.
Since he alone can ease the pain
When someone fails to make a gain
That cost the team the pennant race
And brings the loser near disgrace.

Agam of Allah I'll relate
He's not a foreign potentate.
He's found with gunners, dogs and rod
And football players on the sod;
On court or track for man or beast,
Allah's present none the least.
His place is of much consequence
When loser's losses don't make sense.

The Passing Sport Parade... Among the 78 new arbiters in P. I. A. A. scholastic football are Joe Waples, Warren; Joe Leson, Girard, and Coach Kramer, of Strong Vincent. Leson told us recently that the test they take is awfully hard, due to being worded what he termed "improperly". Kramer failed a year ago, passed this time. Leson made his first time out, which isn't done too often. Ditto, however, for Waples. Add Monte Scott to that list from Port Allegany. And just remember, each of those boys, outside of Kramer, can be claimed at least partially by Warren, Scott and Waples being local high school grads. Meadville is reported by Leidig to have a squad as big as Jamestown's. But we look for the Dragons to do much better against the Bulldogs than they managed to do against the Moonmen. Benton Knibbs, former Youngsville coach in his first season at Otto Township, has just maneuvered his charges through a perfect season of seven victories without even a tie. Only 12 points were scored against his boys all season. But it is still a good thing that the Otto-Engles game was cancelled this year. Youngsville has only dropped one, and we figure they would have taken the measure of the Terrors had they met. Basketball fever has hit the air. Johnny Nelson printed the Owls' schied in the Bradford Era the other night. We'll issue the Dragon slate soon. Watch for it.

When mountains turn into men...

It means more than big-scale sculpture. America is eager to show its respect for great character! Throughout our country, you'll find statues and other types of lasting tributes to great leaders who have made us a great nation... reminders of American ideals.

People respect character in products, too

When a product has the character people respect, they are quick to adopt it. The makers of Budweiser have always followed one standard—Budweiser must always be utterly distinctive in taste, pure, good and supreme in quality. That's why people everywhere have agreed that Budweiser is "something more than beer." Their demand has made it the biggest-selling beer in history and built the world's largest brewery.

Is it Love? by MARGARETTA BRUCKER

Chapter 18
Humiliation

UE ELLEN sank down in a chair and pushed the hat off her aching head. If she had not heard that story she would have accepted Riv's lame excuses and then the marriage would have been dissolved. Riv would have married her and put the whole thing down to a romantic adventure. It was more likely, Riv had not planned to annul the marriage, but had postponed telling her just as he postponed everything. If she could only think of that to do, what move to make, to save her pride. That was it—she must save her pride, if there was any way to accomplish it. It was too late to change that announcement in the paper. Why had she done it? Pride again. Determination to force Riv to do something he did not wish to do and make him marry her at once. She was humiliated. Miserable. The telephone rang and it was Riv, irritable, anxious and it was "I'll be down soon," she told him listlessly, and went about removing her coat and suit. Her head spun with plans too insane and ridiculous to harbor for a minute. The first move would be to know everything Riv had to tell her. No matter how much she wanted to run away, flight was not the answer. She must prevent Riv from doing something impulsive, which he would surely do, unless she could have his promise to stay. She must look her best to hide her hurt. She must deceive Riv and she was inept at deceit. She had never practiced it. Now here must be pretence between her and Riv. When she joined his eyes told her that she had succeeded in what was the first step in a difficult performance. Just as Riv had been able to forget his astounding announcement and the next minute hint eagerly that she might enjoy a new play, now Riv forgot his anxiety at her reaction to his excuses and apprehension about the future, because she looked her best and was a credit to him. You're a knockout, Sue," he said, and caught her arm and pulled her close as they moved toward the street door. "I'll show you Washington at its best tonight. Forget everything—don't be mad at me, honey."

Makcup could disguise a pale face and she choked back the tears which threatened, when she thought how different this night had been. If Riv hadn't been a weak fool—if he hadn't been so reckless, this would have been their honeymoon, just as she had anticipated. Dinner at a smart restaurant, a dance with Riv riding in a close, then a theater, a supper, and back to their hotel, together. She had pictured it often, dreamed about it—boasted of the wonderful time she and Riv would have together. This evening was a farce. She and Riv stood on the brink of a break-up and tried to disguise the truth with chatter about what had happened in Tyler Springs.

"Hello!"

"AUNT CAR hopes to get possession of the plantation next month," she said by way of conversation.

Riv drank his wine before he answered "What plantation?"

"Belle Acres, of course."

"That means a lot to you?"

"Of course!"

He stared frowningly at his plate. "Let's talk about Tyler Springs or anything in it," he said nervously. "Let's talk about us. You do forgive me, don't you, Sue?"

She was troubled, heartsore, alone in a strange city, with no plan for the future, no way to turn back. "I want to," she said honestly. "I can't find it in my heart to hate you, Riv—but forgiveness? I can't promise that."

"Listen," said Riv, "remember that time we danced to it at the country club not a month ago. You let me think that you loved me then, Sue. Were you honest? Were you? I told you before that you were to blame for what I did, and you were, Sue. Maybe it's your innocence that makes me love you, but you've been cold and withdrawn when I want to hold you close, when I want to make love to you. You repulsed me. I found a girl who threw herself at me, Sue. She won't deny that. She was different. She planned those trips back to Tyler Springs."

The music was softening her, and Riv's voice was persuasive. He had done this before. Hurt her utterly and then by his smooth tongue convinced her that what he did was nothing. Shifting the blame as he was doing now, needing her, using the beauty of their surroundings and the music to appeal to her generosity, begging her to spare him the humiliation of having her throw him over entirely.

Did she want to endure further humiliation, even to spare her pride?

Even as she debated this with herself, she saw Riv look up and his handsome face darken. "There's that damned Yankee," he said angrily.

Even before she saw his face, she knew who it was, as only one man strode through a room with that quick, easy stride. There was no mistaking that lean, tanned face and the clear steady glance of the man who shortly stood before them, looking down at her.

"Always he had one greeting: 'Hello.'"

Such a silly little word, but when he spoke it her heart turned over and in that moment she thought of a way to save her pride. A way which made her quite dizzy as she considered it.

"Hello." The audacity of her scheme brought the bright color to her cheeks and deepened the color of her eyes. The eyes which she raised to Johnny Harris were as green as the Irish green dress she wore, the dress she had worn the evening of Aunt Car's dinner party.

Riv mumbled something which was half an invitation to join them and half a definite suggestion that Johnny move on.

"I should like to dance," said Sue Ellen boldly. "Do you dance?" she asked Johnny Harris directly.

"Why did you suggest that?" he asked bluntly as they moved across the small polished floor to the rumba beat, a moment later.

"You don't want to dance with me?"

"Don't flurt, it isn't necessary," he said bluntly. "I'm surprised to find you here. I don't quite get it." He stopped and suddenly she guessed that he knew what she knew and what Deedora must have told him on that evening when she wondered whether he had overheard her accusations.

New Proposal

"YOU know?" she said flatly. "That your future bridegroom is already married. Yes." They circled the floor. "Major Harris knows," said Johnny shortly. "I think he had some idea of breaking the news to you that evening at your aunt's dinner party. The plan lacked finesse and I told him to drop the idea, for I thought I could handle the matter better alone."

"Clever of you," said Sue Ellen bitterly, and all desire to dance left her and the one thing she wanted was to go back to her hotel room, bury her face in her pillow and cry her eyes out. How many people knew the humiliating truth? Did Genny—Toby?

She thought of the crazy announcement in the Memphis paper and was sick with contempt for herself and furious with Riv because he had made her ridiculous.

"I had no idea of being clever, as you put it." He swung her around and moved across the floor so that they were out of sight of Riv, who sat moodily ordering more drinks. "I've wanted to help you, but you are so antagonistic to me that any plan I might suggest would probably never meet with your approval."

"What plan?" She knew and her heart beat wildly. Not as it had ever beaten for Riv, but with a mad measure so unlike her own controlled emotion that it terrified her.

"Marry me. On your own terms, if you will. That will satisfy the Tyler Springs gossip."

"You saw the Memphis paper?"

"Yes."

The music stopped abruptly. They stood for an instant together, as the other couples brushed by on their way to their tables.

"Riv is watching us," she said nervously.

"Where are you staying?"

"At the Maitland."

"I'll call you later."

"I couldn't—"

They were moving back to join Riv now. Something in Johnny's eyes cooled her first impulse to accept his offer and recklessly take whatever obligation marriage with him demanded. He had said, "Make your own terms," but would he keep that promise?

The thought of marrying him had flashed through her own mind. That plan came to her when she first saw him enter the restaurant. She had been spared making the suggestion, for Johnny himself proposed a way out which would shatter all precedent in Tyler Springs, would explain the postponement of her marriage with Riv and make many believe that she and not Riv wanted the postponement. She would marry quite as well, for Johnny Harris had money, probably more than Riv. She would astonish Aunt Pleas—she would wear a wedding ring on her finger and no longer be just a bride-to-be, waiting for a reluctant fiancé to make up his mind to marry her.

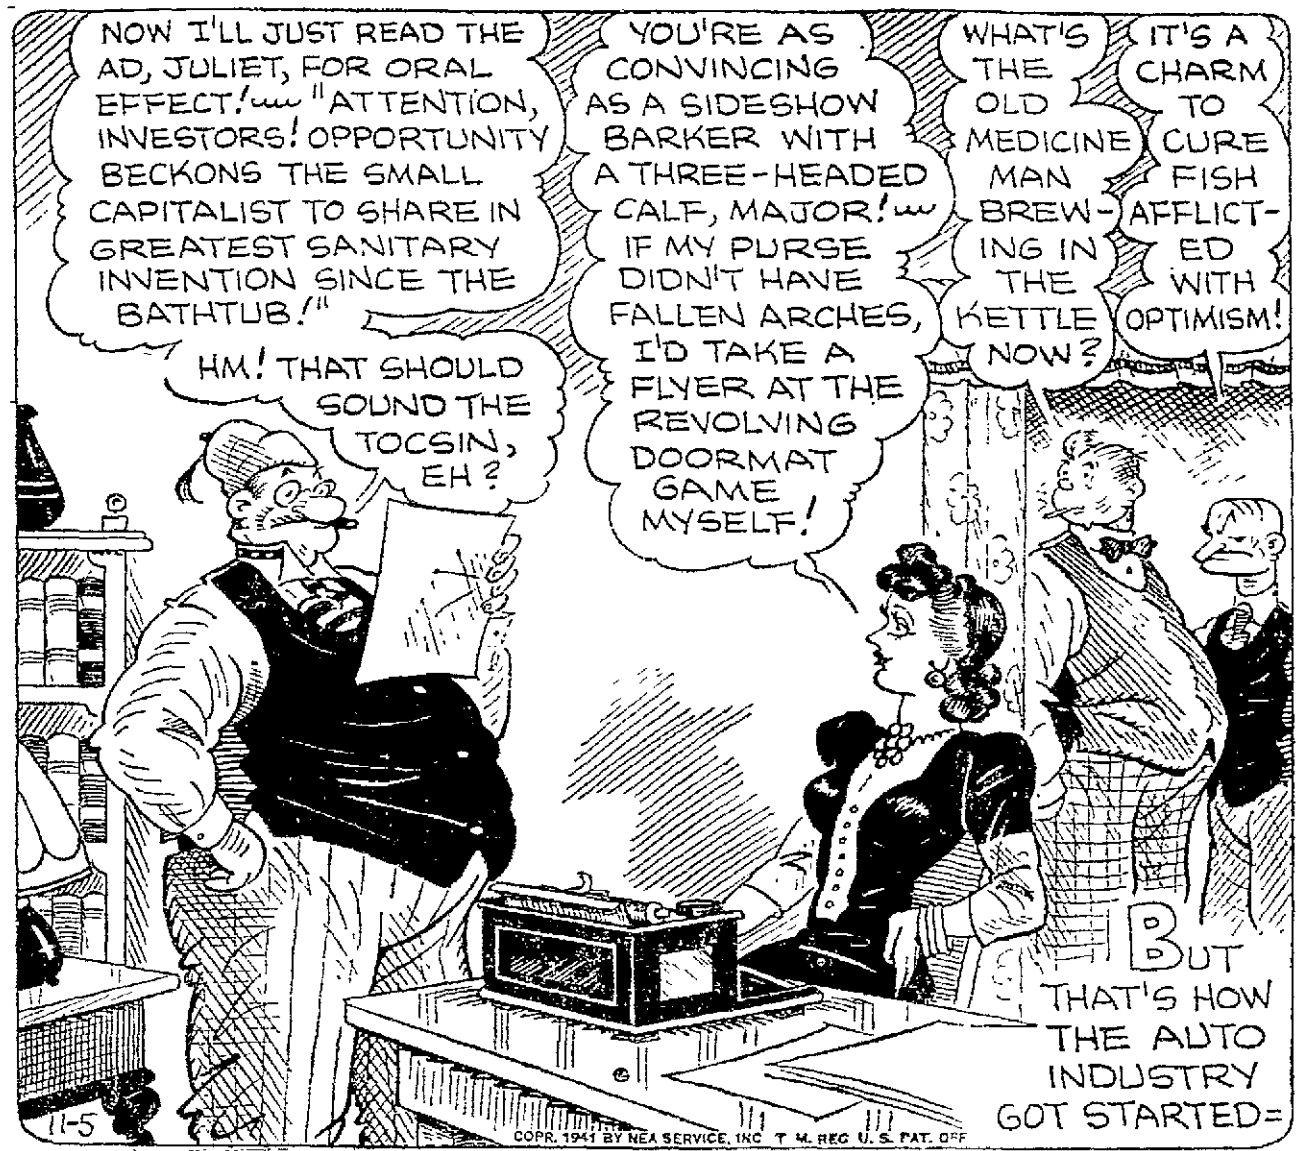

Her pride again—her silly pride, spurring her on to do something reckless.

But there was one vital angle to consider.

Johnny Harris professed to love her and tonight the touch of his arm about her, as they danced had thrilled her as Riv never had stirred her.

"Win A Fortune for Baby"

County Ministerial Association Plans Thanksgiving Service Here

Republicans Win Judgeships

Judge William M. Parker of Oil City, successful candidate for re-election to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, was appointed to the post he now holds by Governor Arthur H. James, December 11, 1940, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Judge H. Edgar H. Barnes. Judge Parker has been a member of the Superior Court for nine years before his election to the State's highest tribunal, and had been a Judge of the Common Pleas Court in the 25th district for seven years. He was graduated from the Oil City High School and Princeton University, and holds a degree of Doctor of Laws from Grove City College.

Judge Charles E. Kenworthy, Philadelphia attorney, winning candidate for the Superior Court, was appointed to the post he is now holding by Governor Arthur H. James on April 8, 1941 to fill the vacancy created by the appointment of Judge William M. Parker to the Supreme Court. Judge Kenworthy is 40 years of age. He is considered one of the Southeast's outstanding attorneys. Graduate of the Milford (Pike County) High School and the University of Pennsylvania Law School, Kenworthy has been prominent in the Quaker City's legal and civic affairs for more than a decade.

COLE HILL

(Turn To Page Three)
Mrs. Lillian Camp was a weekend guest at the home of her mother Mrs. Clara Schell and other relatives at Corry.
Mrs. Vera Seaton, of Sharpsville, and Mrs. Alice Camp and daughter Virginia of Sherman, N. Y., were recent guests here at the home of their father and grandfather, Frank Camp.
Miss Margaret Dyer, the Cole Hill school teacher, spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dyer, at Youngville.

Rev. John C. Bengtson, pastor of the Bethlehem Congregational church and president of the Warren County Ministerial Association, will be the principal speaker for the Thanksgiving Day service sponsored annually by the organization.

The service this year will take place in the First Presbyterian church, starting at 10:30 o'clock on Thanksgiving morning, November 27. The special offering of that day will be given to the Warren Relief Association. It is stated.

Persons of all races and creeds are invited and urged by the association to participate in this community service of thanksgiving, deemed more vital this year than ever before.

Announcement of the speaker and other details of the service was made at the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association, held in the Y. M. C. A. Monday forenoon.

A satisfactory report was made on progress of the weekday religious education schools, and it was stated that the association has provided more than 600 New Testaments for men in the armed forces of the country since last fall.

The paper of the day was given by Rev. James A. Davidson, pastor of the First Baptist church. It dealt with "The Minister in the Pulpit," and was followed by a general discussion on preparation, delivery and mannerisms of the minister in the pulpit.

Devotions were in charge of A. E. Kaebnick.

DISTRICT LIONS CLUBS TO COME HERE NOV. 18TH

Lions Club members, meeting at noon Tuesday at the Y. W. C. A. activities building, voted to hold next week's meeting on Wednesday, because of Armistice Day, and to complete plans at that time for the membership meeting to take place here on November 18.

Invitations will be extended to clubs of Tionesta, Tidioute, Titusville and Oil City, which with Warren comprise Zone No. 2, District 14-B. The speaker will be Rev. Claire Stewart, honorary member of the Oil City Club and resident of Clarion, and the deputy governor of the district, Paul H. Flowers, will be in charge. Mr. Flowers is a brother of Harold Flowers, of Warren.

Zack Tait and Mr. Hewitt, of Oil City, were guests at yesterday's meeting and extended to local members an invitation to a stag party to be held in their city on December 3.

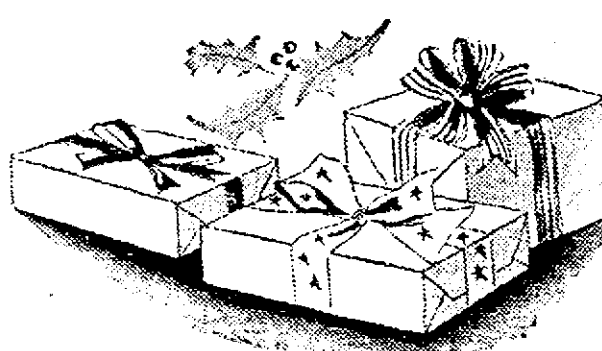

The speaker yesterday was Ernest Miller, of the West Penn Oil Company, who is author of a book, "Oil Mania," scheduled to come off the press on November 19. This book, written very entertainingly, will deal with the history of oil in Warren and nearby counties.

Mr. Miller presented to members a portion of the book which explains "Why I Am Interested in Oil," reviewing the interest of his grandfather, his father and himself. He gave a vivid description of the beginning of the oil industry, early oil booms, growth and complete disappearance of former oil towns and many other interesting phases of the oil days in this section.

FIND MISSING BOY

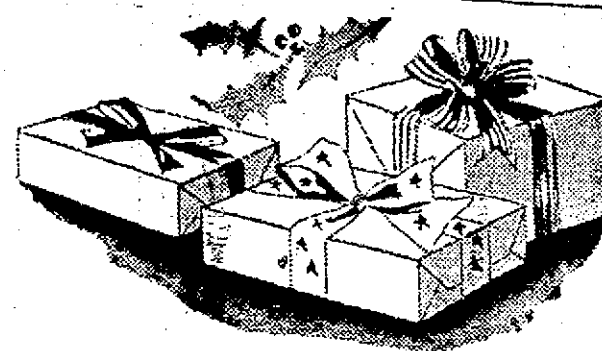

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 5 (AP)—The anxious parents of 15-year-old Frank C. Goebert, who disappeared from his home May 19, were relieved to learn he now is happy in a CCC Camp near Juneau, Alaska.

The American Legion, which joined in the search for the lad, obtained a report from its Juneau post yesterday. The boy has promised to write, it was said.

CHURCH REVIVALS

GRACE METHODIST CHURCH
The Methodist churches of Warren and vicinity began a week's evangelistic campaign under the direction of Gipsy Smith, international evangelist, at Grace Methodist church last night. All were stirred by the quiet, forceful manner in which Gipsy Smith presented the Gospel as he spoke on "Conversion." Everyone present felt the winsome appeal of Christ. Gipsy Smith has a ready wit which makes his sermons sparkle. You not only enjoy the service you are helped by it. Hear him tonight as he speaks on the subject "How the Wild Men Were Tamed." The hour is 7:30.

The musical part of the service is in charge of the Berge Sisters of Baltimore, Maryland. There are vocal solos and duets and inspiring congregational singing. Also trumpet and accordion numbers. Dr. J. A. Galbraith, the district superintendent of the Jamestown District of the church is in general charge of the meetings.
